For the Sunday Dispatch.

"It is Hard to be Old and Poor."

BY WILLIAM KING SADLER.

The following was suggested by the expression of a virtuous old man, much worn with the fatigues of life and tottering wearily toward the grave, who was called upon to pay a tax to the nation for the privilege of retaining his meagre possessions, which were scarcely sufficient to secure for him a final respect. While the reflective tear filled his age-dimmed eye when he was told he must pay the amount, he uttered the heartfelt words, "It is hard to be old and poor."

How tearfully tender were whispered the words
By a trembling, wearied sire,
And the trees were bare
By the bleak north air—
No warble was heard from the May-song birds,
And we sat by the hearthwood fire.

"It is hard to be old and poor," he said,
And he keenly felt the smart,
For a rate, that day,
Was he called to pay—
Then he gently bowed his palsied head
To rest it near my heart.

"It is hard to be old and poor," he sighed,
"For the world will take no thought"—
I stroked with care
His silvery hair—
"The wise and good from want have died,
And kindness must be bought."

"It is hard to be old and poor," he wept,
And as virtue warmed his breast,
With trembling voice
Said he "Rejoice,
My boy, in youth, and now accept
My guide—my last request."

"It is hard to be old and poor;" but know,
True wealth is of the heart,
And all the store
Of gold, of lore,
With bosom vile, is but a show
To rear some victims art.

"It is hard to be old and poor," 'tis truth;
Three times thou art my years—
'Twill be my pride
To call thee guide;
We smiled o'er joys of a well-spent youth,
And dried our mutual tears.

The Worn Wedding-Ring.

Your wedding-ring wears thin, dear wife; ah, summers not a few,
Since I put it on your finger first, have passed over me and you,
And, love, what changes we have seen—what cares and pleasures, too—
Since you became my own dear wife, when this old ring was new.

O, blessings on that happy day, the happiest of my life,
When, thanks to God, your low, sweet "Yes" made you my loving wife.
Your heart will say the same, I know: that day's as dear to you—
That day that made me yours, dear wife, when this old ring was new.

How well do I remember now, your young, sweet face that day;
How fair you were—how dear you were—my tongue could hardly say;
Nor how I doted on you; ah! how proud I was of you;
But did I love you more than now, when this old ring was new?

No—no; no fairer were you then than at this hour to me,
And dear as life to me this day, how could you dearer be?
As sweet your face might be that day as now it is, 'tis true,
But did I know your heart as well when this old ring was new?

O! partner of my gladness, wife, what care, what grief is there
For me you would not bravely face—with me you would not share?
O! what a weary want had every day, if wanting you—
Wanting the love that God made mine when this old ring was new.

The past is dear; its sweetness still our memories treasure yet;
The griefs we've borne—together borne—we would not now forget;
Whatever, wife, the future brings, heart unto heart still true,
We'll share as we have shared all else since this old ring was new.

Select Miscellany.

A SOCIAL LESSON.

"I can never forgive him, never?"

So spoke George Stanton, as he rested his hands firmly on his knees, and shook his head with that slow, emphatic motion which denotes a strong effort of the will.

Near by him sat his sister Eliza. George was young—only five-and-twenty—while Eliza was forty. She was a widow, and had returned to the old home for a season, where her younger brother held possession.

"I mean it," the young man added, as he noticed how curiously his sister regarded him—and he closed his hands upon his knees, as though he would fortify his resolution.

"Are you speaking of Caleb Bradford?" Eliza asked.

"Yes."

"But I thought he was one of your most intimate friends."

"He has been."

"I thought he was your confidential companion."

"So he has been."

"And I thought he had loved you, and that you had loved him."

"I have loved him," said George. He spoke right feelingly, though a little petulantly, for there was something in the calm, deep tone and searching gaze of his sister that seemed to trouble him.

"Then tell me, my brother, what Caleb can have done that should thus affect you," urged Eliza.

"He has trampled upon me—he has abused my confidence—he has proved treacherous!" cried the youth, growing indignant with his own warmth of feeling.

"But what has he done?" asked the sister, in the same quiet tone. "What has been his sin?"

"Why he has abused me—he has spoken very ill of me. In fact he has spoken of me as no friend would speak of another; and he has done this, too, in the presence of those who never liked me any too well."

"But this is not all," said Eliza, "the trouble could not have commenced here. He must have had some occasion for speaking these evil things."

"That is so," returned the brother, with an effort to feel as bitter as possible. "The first blow was full as keen, though not so broad and palpable. I asked him to lend me his span of horses, to take Clara and the baby over to Winfield, and he told me they were not fit to drive. He said he would rather hire a dozen horses for me than let his team go. So I went and got a horse and wagon at the livery stable.—Of course I should have said nothing of this; but on the evening of that very dark day he let the team to John Jackson—and when I spoke to him about it he intimated that it was none of my business to question his motives."

"In all probability," suggested Eliza, "when you spoke to Caleb on the subject you did not speak very kindly."

"I don't know about that," said George, with a knod of the head.

"I can guess pretty nearly how you spoke," the sister rejoined.

"Never mind," said the youth It is enough for me to know what transpired, I want nothing more to do with him My mind is made up to that.

Eliza pondered a few moments, her eye resting upon her brother, and her foot patting upon the floor, and then she said, very quietly—

"You'll forget all this in a little while, George."

"You think so, do you?"

"I know it."

"Then I hope you'll watch patiently for the result."

"There is no need of my watching very narrowly for it will come soon enough."

George seemed at first inclined to be very indignant at being thus doubted; but when he met the calm look of his sister, so full of reason and confidence, he curbed his impatience.

"Eliza," he said, quite earnestly, "do you think I don't know what I say?"

"Oh, you know that well enough: and you know what you mean, too," replied the sister, with a smile. "But," she added, "you don't know your own soul yet."

"What do you mean by that."

"I'll tell you at some future time."

"Tell me now."

"No, not now, but George I may tell you in a few days."

"I suppose you will tell me something wonderful." This was spoken in a tone which was intended for a very sarcastic one. But the sister smiled and shook her head, and said,—

I shall not aim to give you any dangerous shock, my brother, only to help your own reason. However, we won't say any more now, for I must help Clara in the kitchen."

George went away shaking his head, and inwardly declaring that he would never forgive Caleb Bradford in the world, while Eliza went smiling and nodding, for she felt that she knew her brother better than he knew himself.

It was something new for George Stanton to carry enmity in his bosom—and especially enmity against one whom he had loved so well. As such a state was not natural to him it became necessary to the continuance of the enmity that he should nourish it, and in doing this he robbed his own soul of its joys. Twice he met Caleb Bradford, but he would not speak to him. In the evening he was careful to avoid every place where Caleb was in the habit of calling; so that, by the time he reached his home, he began to feel like a criminal. He almost wished that his old friend would come and see him, and ask to make up; but he could not take the initiatory step himself,—O, no.

On the afternoon of the third day Eliza saw her brother in the parlor, and she went and sat down by his side.

"Well," she said, at the same time laying her hand upon his arm "how do you prosper?"

"What do you mean Eliza?"

"How do you come on with your hatred of Caleb Bradford?"

"Hatred? I do not hate him."

"Ah—I thought that by this time you would have come to hate him with a perfect hatred."

"You needn't try to play with me in that way, Eliza. I know what you mean. You are mistaken if you think I am a fool."

"Pooh, George—why do you speak so to me?" And as the sister said this she took her brother's hand, and looked up into his face with a kindly smile. "Come—let us reason. Do not try to hide a feeling or a thought from me; for I know something of your nature, and I think I know pretty nearly how your heart beats. Now tell me—is it not very unpleasant to be at enmity with Caleb Bradford?"

George did not hesitate long, for he had confidence in his sister, and he knew, moreover, that she could read his feelings about as well as he could tell them. And, furthermore, she had been as a mother to him, in love and care, for several years, so he yielded much to her on that account.

"Of course it is unpleasant," he said.

"Then why do you bear it?" asked the sister.

"Because I cannot help it," returned George.

"Yes, you can help it. A word from you will heal all. Why should you suffer, then?"

"Ah," replied the young man, very philosophically, "there are some duties in life which are by no means pleasant ones."

"And you think this hatred of your friend is one of them?"

"He is no friend of mine—he is a friend no longer."

"And still I'll warrant you he has not changed a particle," said Eliza, with a change of look and tone which fastened her brother's attention. "He is the same man you have loved so long, and his heart has not varied in its instincts or its affections."

"Still he has wronged me," returned George.

"How many times?"

The young man looked up with puzzled expression.

"How many times?" he repeated.—"Why—he has proved false, and that is enough."

Eliza looked at her brother a few moments, and then said, in a tone and with an expression all of love and kindness—

"My dear brother, I wish you would listen to me one moment, for I want to give you a lesson in social life which may be of advantage to you. You know I would not tease you, and that I would only speak for your benefit. You certainly feel that."

"Of course I do," responded the youth frankly.

"Then you will be free and sincere, and answer me after the dictates of your own instincts?"

"Yes,"

"Thank you, brother. And now, just tell me this: How many deeds of kindness and love has Caleb Bradford done toward you?"

"What do you mean?" asked George, somewhat perplexed.

"I mean just what I say," returned Eliza. "I mean not a thought beyond the simple words of my language. How many deeds of love and kindness has he done, and how many hours of pure joy has he afforded you?"

George was silent.

"Have they not been many?" pursued the sister.

"Why—yes—I suppose they have," the young man finally answered, with some reluctance.

"Aye," added Eliza, warmly, "I know they have. I know that for much pleasure you have been indebted to him, and that he has loved you well and truly. He has done this for years—for long years he has been true and faithful, has he not?"

"Yes."

"And now—how much evil has he done you? How many deeds has he done to harm you?"

George did not answer.

"I shall have to speak for you," Eliza said speaking with more earnestness as she proceeded. "Just think of it—Allowing that Caleb has done all that you accuse him of having done, and what does it amount to! To just this: He has given you ten thousands blessings, and with them has come one little deed of evil. He has bestowed upon you a thousand joys, and he has given you one pang. And for one dark cloud that has by chance succeeded the long season of brightness, you would cast him off! Like the man who lives in the light of blessedness for years without gratitude—who receives gift upon gift of good without a thank offering, but who yet, for the first pain, gives a curse, and, for one grief doubts the goodness of his Maker.

"Only think. Just reflect. I know it is the habit of man—some may say it is his nature—to pass lightly over the love and kindness and friendship of a lifetime, and lay to heart the evil of a moment—to cast out ten thousand flowers, to tear up the garden, because a single thorn has been found. Is it not very foolish? Is it not worse than foolish? Is it not really wicked?

"You have a splendid watch which your father gave you, and I know that you value it highly. Suppose it should stop, would you throw it away?"

"Of course not," said George.

"No," added Eliza: "you would say—Here the watch has been faithful for years, and I think its nature is so to be. This must be the result of some accident. And you would take your watch to an expert, and he might find a little piece of dirt lodged amid the delicate machinery; and you would have the dirt removed, and the watch would run as before, and you would trust it as of old.

"Need I say any more? I will, however, say this: Take counsil of your nobler instincts, and make yourself as happy as you can in the path of right."

With these words Eliza arose and left the room, and George was left alone.—Awhile he sat upon the sofa, with his head bent, and then he got up and paced the floor a few minutes. It did not take him long to understand what his sister meant, nor did it take long for him to discover and appreciate its truth; he did this as she spoke, for it had appealed to the judgment of his own soul. He only stopped to consider how he should meet Caleb Bradford; and at length he had decided that point. He saw, now that his senses were free, that the cause of the trouble had been very slight, and he meant that it should be removed without much show.

That very morning, as George stepped out from the Post office, he saw Caleb Bradford coming up the street. He had made up his mind and he would not flinch. He meant to try the experiment at any rate. So, as his old friend came up, he put forth his hand and smiled. Caleb grasped it in a moment, and smiled in return.

"We wont wait to explain now," said George, shaking the hand he held warmly.

"No," replied Caleb, with the same heartiness in his grasp.

And George's eye grew moist.

And Caleb's eye grew moist.

Aye—for their hearts were as true and warm as ever, and their instincts as safe and sure,—only a little mote in the sunbeam—a little bit of dirt in one of the fine wheels, so that the tiny cogs got choked and stopped,—that was all. And when this was removed the two young men were happy as ever, and the delicate, sensitive structure of friendship between them was free again and perfect.

Dosn't the reader understand the lesson.

SOLEMN PEOPLE.—Beecher don't like solemn people. "There are not a few," he says, "who even in this life seem to be preparing themselves for that sinless eternity to which they look forward, by banishing all gaiety from their hearts, all joyousness from their countenances. I meet one such in the streets, not frequently a person of intelligence and education, but who gives me and all that pass, such a rayless and chilling look of recognition, something as if he were one of Heaven's accusers, come down to doom every acquaintance he met, that I have sometimes began to sneeze on the spot and come home with a violent cold, dating from that instant. I don't doubt he would cut off his kitten's tail if he caught her playing with it. Please tell me who taught her to play with it?"

☞ "What a blessed thing it is, said Mrs. Jones, to the widow Partington, one day during the late revival, "that so many poor souls are being called to be saved." "Dear me, yes," replied the widow. "I only wish that my dear late concert, Paul Partington, could have lived to see this blessed revival. He was a most iminent christian in his day and generation, Mrs. Jones, although I say it and have no doubt that he is now happy in Beelzibub's botom." And as the old lady closed her eyes to get a better glimpse of the spiritual vision, a loud scream of pain came from Isaac, who had been catching flies at the window and had got a hornet between his thumb and finger.

☞ Going to Law.—The Agriculturalist contains a very good and suggestive picture, entitled "going to law," from which quarrelsome people can derive a valuable lesson. It represents a cow, with the plaintiff pulling ferociously at the horns, and the defendant tugging just as hard at the other extremity, whilst a sleek-looking lawyer, seated on a pile of law books, is milking the cow's well-filled bag. That's about the fate of all who go to law. The parties to the suit wrangle and fight, and the lawyers get the cream.

☞ Going in on Shares. "Boy, where do you come from, and how do you live?" "Come from Pennsylvany, and live by ating."—"Would you like something to do?" "Don't care, if it 'taint hard work." "Well, boy, if you like, I will set you up in a business that will prove both pleasant and profitable!" "Drive ahead, I'm insenin!" "Well, you go somewhere and steal a basket, and then go around begging for cold victuals, and you may have half you get!"

TO YOUNG MEN.—Don't rely upon your friends. Don't rely upon the name of your ancessors. Thousands have spent the prime of life in the vain of those whom they called friends; and thousands have starved because they had a rich father. Rely upon the good name which is made by your own exertions; and know that better than the best friend you can have is unquestionable determination, united with decision of character.

☞ Oh, how sweet is a harbor after a long storm, and a sunshiny day after a dark and tempestuous night, and a warm spring after a sharp winter! The miseries and difficulties that a man meets with in this world, will exceedingly sweeten the glory of that other world.

Thanksgiving in Pennsylvania.

PENNSYLVANIA, SS.:

SEAL

IN THE NAME AND BY THE AUTHORITY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA.
WILLIAM F. PACKER,
Governor of the said Commonwealth.

PROCLAMATION.

FELLOW CITIZENS:—The blessings vouchsafed by a kind Providence through the past year, demand our grateful recognition and again call for the sacrifice of Thanksgiving and praise. Under the protection of a Government that secures to all equal rights, we have pursued, unmolested, the various avocations of life, with more than usual prosperity. The earth, under the labors of the husbandman, has yielded her increase, and our barns and storehouses are crowded with the fruits of the harvest. We have not only been preserved from the ravages of the pestilence, but the past has been a year distinguished for health in our large cities and throughout all our rural districts. Our country has been preserved in peace. Our homes have been the abodes of tranquility, and blessings innumerable have clustered around our domestic hearths. Our various schools and seminaries of learning are diffusing throughout our community a higher intelligence, and imparting to our youth nobler aspirations. The institutions of our holy religion are well sustained; and under its pure and genial influence, the spirit of unity and love, the earnest of yet better days, is most happily developed. To God, the Great and the good, we are indebted for all, and to Him let praise be rendered.

With these sentiments, and in accordance with the known wishes of many of my fellow-citizens, I, WILLIAM F. PACKER, Governor of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, do hereby appoint THURSDAY, the 24th day of NOVEMBER next, as a day of general Thanksgiving and praise to Almighty God, and recommend to all our people to lay aside on that day, their customary worldly business—assemble in their respective places of worship, and unite in praising God for His excellent greatness toward us—beseeching His gracious goodness.

Given under my hand and the great seal of the State, at Harrisburg, this fourteenth day of October, A. D. 1859, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-fourth.

By the Governor:
WM. M. HIESTER, Sec. Commonwealth.

The Senatorial Contest.

The fiat of the people of this Senatorial District has gone forth, and our esteemed fellow citizen, Louis W. Hall, is declared our Senator elect, by over six hundred majority. When Mr. Hall's name was first mentioned in connection with the office, we said that if his party was wise, it would make him its standard bearer. We believed if any man in the Opposition party could carry the district it was he.—Large as were the odds in favor of the Democratic party and its candidate, Mr. Hall took the nomination, believing he could carry the district, when almost all his friends here thought there was scarce a possibility of his doing so. Blair county stood nobly by him, and despite the unfair efforts of interested politicians, in circulating false stories in quarters where it was thought they would operate advantageously to his opponent, she rolled up the largest majority ever given to any candidate, clearly showing that her people justly appreciated the worth and merit of one of her most worthy sons. Each district did so well that it is difficult to say to which the party prize is due. Altoona and Logan township, where Mr. H. is well known, far exceeded the expectations of his most sanguine friends, and we can now congratulate the editor of the Ebensburg Democrat & Sentinel on the happy effect of his flattering notice of Mr. H., in his issue a week or two previous to the election. It is a true saying that "curses like chickens, always come home to roost," and the editor referred to has doubtless found it so. But now that the election is over—the smoke of the battle cleared away, and party feeling and excitement gone with election day, we have no desire to tickle the sore places of the ailing, or scratch up the events of the campaign, as that could be of no service to any one, unless it would be to laugh at the tricks resorted to by politicians for the purpose of winning.

All parties, who know the man, must admit that we have, in the person of L. W. Hall, a Senator who will do credit to the district and the legislative body of which he is a member—a man of capacity, industry and honor, who will make his mark at Harrisburg in faithfully discharging his duties. We predict for him a bright future, and higher honors yet await him. The people we feel sure will have no cause to regret his election.

Election in the State.

The returns of the State Election come in very slowly, only some 29 or 30 counties having yet reported officially. We deem it unnecessary to give a table this week, hoping that we may be able to give an official table of all the counties in our next. The returns received indicate that the Peoples' State ticket is elected by about 20,000 majority.

The Peace.

The North Briton brings news of an apology for a peace, patched up by diplomatic doctors at Zurich. By it Lombardy is ceded to Sardinia, and Austria takes upon herself part of the debt of Lombardy. It is said that the present condition of Italy is very far from being a peaceful one. The Emperor Napoleon has raised a storm in that unhappy country which he cannot allay, and which he is not hero enough to carry to its natural and legitimate conclusion. The Italians, deceived, abused, and most basely betrayed, have refused to be bargained for and disposed of like sheep. They assert their rights. They determine to keep out from the Duchies the satraps of Austria, and that they will no longer submit to the Papal yoke.

The news from all parts of Italy indicate a most beautiful state of confusion and bewilderment. What will be the next move? The Pope has delivered his passport to the Sardinian Minister; an insurrection has occurred at Palermo, Sicily. The Tuscans and Bolognese refuse to acknowledge any authority but that of Sardinia. Generals Garibaldi and Fanti have summoned the Italians to arms, and a collision has already occurred between Swiss and Papal troops. While the political quacks at Zurich are prating of peace all Italy is breathing war, and collisions between the Italians and the exiled Dukes and their hired adherents, are expected every day. The news will be full of excitement and interest.

☞ Within a short time past an experiment has been tried at Wilmington, Del., to manufacture gas out of water, but as there appears to be a diversity of opinion regarding it, it is hard to decide whether it was a failure or success. The Wilmington papers say that it was an experiment made by interested parties in Philadelphia, that the gas gave a very poor light, and emitted a horrible smell. This is entirely contradictory to the statements of the Philadelphia papers. It is said that this gas was at one time used in several towns in England, but all gave it up after a brief trial. It may be that gas will yet be manufactured from water, but like many other discoveries of a similar character, it will require several testings to ascertain its defects and devise remedies.

☞ The Steamer North Briton brings intelligence of the sudden death, by apoplexy, of Mr. Mason, our Minister to France. Mr. Mason was appointed Minister to France by President Pierce and was continued by President Buchanan. The duties appertaining to his office were always discharged with ability and to the full satisfaction of our country and that to which he was accredited. Although not considered a statesman of the first rank, he was always esteemed a plain, hospitable man, and was deservedly popular with Americans travelling abroad, as his house was always made welcome to them.

Terrible Riot at Harper's Ferry.

Within the past few days, the whole country has been startled by the report that an insurrection has broken out at Harper's Ferry, Virginia, and that it is the work of Negroes and Abolitionists. From the many telegraphic reports with which the daily papers are filled, we condense the following account;—

It appears that the insurrectionists are commanded by a man named Captain Brown, of Kansas notoriety, and Captain Cook, both of whom have been living in that vicinity for some time past, and that it was the intention of the party to free all the negroes in Virginia and Maryland. On Sunday night last, about 9 o'clock the Armory at Harper's Ferry was taken possession of by the insurgents in such a quiet manner that the citizens new nothing of it until the trains on the Baltimore and Ohio R. R. were stopped.

Information of the insurrection was immediately communicated to the Governor of the State and to the President at Washington. The latter immediately ordered out a company of ninety-three marines with two twelve-pound howitzers to proceed to the scene of insurrection. Information having also been sent to Baltimore, three military companies were immediately ordered out and proceeded to the scene.

The insurgents had taken several prisoners, among whom were the Draftsman of the Armory, the Master of the Armyry, the Paymaster and a prominent citizen. They had fortified themselves in the armory and engine house, the latter of which could not be stormed with cannon for fear of injuring the prisoners.

Previous to the arrival of the soldiers, Capt. Cook with a large party of slaves, left the place and are supposed to be moving towards Pennsylvania. On the arrival of the marines the Armory was stormed and captured. Capt. Brown and his son were both shot. The latter was dead and the former dying when the dispatch was forwarded.

It is reported that some sixteen persons are known to have been killed in the engagement and it may be many more. The most intense excitement prevails in Baltimore and the vicinity of the insurrection. Amid the conflicting dispatches, it is impossible to form anything like a correct opinion regarding the insurrection, but it must be indeed terrible.

The President has ordered out a number of horses and men to pursue the fleeing insurrectionists (who have taken to the mountains,) into every state and locality where they may have fled.

The last dispatch states that there are now probably a thousand men congregated at the Ferry and re-inforcements are constantly pouring in. Where the matter will end we can not at present conjecture. We hope it may be all over by this time, although the reports give us no reason to presume so. Altogether it is one of the most disgraceful difficulties ever originated in the country, and even should it now be at an end, the valuable lives already sacrificed is terrible to contemplate.

PEN AND SCISSORS.

☞ Look out for the fire eagles on Saturday week.

☞ Up—the buildings connected with the gas works.

☞ Read these items carefully; you may find something new among them.

☞ The Galena and Chicago railroad brought to Chicago last week 280,246 bushels of wheat, besides about 60,000 bushels of other grains.

☞ A man might as well try to sit still with a crooked pin under him as to run with the girls and not learn to love them.

☞ At the close of the horticultural exhibition at Louisville, some of the peaches which had been on exhibition were sold at $1,50 apiece.

☞ The Butler American accounts for the small vote in that county by saying that election day was the best day for threshing buckwheat that they have had in that county this season.

☞ American Railroad Cars For Egypt.—The ship Vivid Light, about to sail from Boston, Mass., for Alexandria, Egypt, will take out fourteen railroad cars manufactured in Springfield, for the railroad in Egypt.

☞ A Genuine Dead-Head.—Last Sunday, in a Northern village, when the "plate" was being passed in church, a newly appointed editor said to the "collector"—"Go on; I'm a dead-head—I've got a pass!"

☞ President Buchanan authorizes the emphatical denial of the report that he intended to institute proceedings for libel against John W. Forney, on account of the article in the Press a few days since, on the death of Broderick.

☞ Something for town boys to study over—why do persons advertising for boys, for almost any trade or profession, always append "a boy from the country preferred." May be we will answer this some of these days.

☞ Morrissey persistently refuses to fight the "Benicia Boy" until the latter fight with Tom Sayers, the champion of England. Morrissey says he don't fight for money, but for glory.

☞ A Rare Bird.—A flamingo was shot a few days ago near Wilmington, N. C. It was six feet six inches high, and when its wings were extended, measured six feet eight inches from tip to tail. It is a water fowl, and is rarely seen in the United States.

☞ The Agricultural Department of the Patent Office will have one thousand vigorous tea plants ready for gratuitous distribution within three or four months. It is expected that American grown tea will enter the market within five years.

☞ High Priced Horse.—One undivided half of the celebrated stallion John Henry, was sold in Louisville, during the Fair last week, for the sum of $8,500, to Capt. Aaron Pennington. The whole horse, at that rate, would cost $7,000.

☞ Rogers, of North Adams, Massachusetts, has a shoe that was worn 85 years ago by a woman at her wedding at Northampton; the heel is made of wood, 3 inches high, running to a triangular point, one inch broad, and tipped with leather.

☞ Cut—a number of the candidates for county offices, by those who didn't consider them sound on the "goose." A man must walk pretty straight now-a-days to please all parties and make a good haul (Hall) about election time.

☞ Jes so—the reply of the Standard to our intimation that the editor "measured our corn in his half-bushel." We thought he had done so, and commend him for his honesty in admitting it. Our attempt to correct the wrong impressions entertained by the Standard may appear dull, but truth is often blunt edged.

☞ Mirth pleaseth some, to others 'tis offence: some commend plain conceit, some profound sense; some wish a witty jest, some dislike that, and most would have—themselves they know not what. Then he that would please all, and himself too, takes more in hand than he is like to do.

☞ Full of Devils.—A St. Louis paper notices a suicide in that city from a rather curious cause. A young Frenchman named Donnedieu, was insane. He thought his stomach was full of devils—an aggravated cause of dyspepsia—and, despairing of relief, he cut his throat and shot himself.

☞ Another Fatal Duel in California.—A duel was fought on the 16th ult., near San Andreas, California, by Dr. Peterson Goodwyn and Col. Wm. Jeff Gatewood. Weapons rifles; distance forty yards. At the first fire Dr. Goodwyn fell mortally wounded, and died about two hours afterwards.

☞ Daring Highway Robbery.—Jacob Sheesley, of Millersburg, Dauphin county, Pa., while walking last Tuesday evening, between Lykenstown and Kunnel's tavern, in Schuylkill Co., was attacked by three fellows, who robbed him of $2300. The faces of the robbers were blackened, in order to make detection a difficult matter.

☞ A Schoolmaster, as a punishment to one of his pupils for using profane language, ordered him to take a pair of tongs, and watch a hole in the earth until he had caught a mouse. The boy took the tongs, and demurely waited for a vistor. Directly after, he saw a mouse peeping out of the hole, he grasped the mouse, and triumphantly swinging it aloft, exclaimed, "By G——, I've got him."

☞ The amount of iron used thus far on the new dome of the Capitol, in the city of Washington, is 3,000,000 pounds for the first section which is about 37 feet high. The total weight of the iron in the whole dome will be about 15,000,000 pounds. According to a correspondent, the walls of the Capitol building are to be so thick and extensive that this great weight will be only about fifty pounds to the square inch.

☞ A Brooklyn lady last week accompanied a little beggar girl to her home and left $5, to help pay the funeral expenses of the child's father, whose coffin stood in the corner of the room; but coming back unawares to get her handkerchief, she found the missing article in the hands of the dead man, who was consulting the detector to see if the five dollar bill was good.

Rejoice! Ye Curs of All Degrees!

Under the above head, the San Francisco Times comments as follows upon the death of Senator Broderick. If there be any right left in the upholders of the National Administration and the institution of slavery, we expect soon to notice that the editor of the Times has been invited out to settle a small account.

Let there be gladness in every false and brutal heart, for the man who has stood up like a pyramid of rough granite amid the vile herd for ten years, is struck down, hunted to the death, for his opinions. To speak for freedom in California is an offence which nothing but death can atone for. To stand for the right, and battle against wrong, is in this free State an offense against the chivalry so great that blood alone can wash the record out. Blood has been shed, but the record lives. The record lives that the man whose voice has for ten years rung for freedom in California, whose voice in Congress was for freedom and against a corrupt Administration, has been hunted to death for it—Rejoice, shen, ye false hounds of his own native blood, ye who carry the hod for Southern taskmasters; ye who mix the mortar and make bricks for the temple of Southern slavery: ye hewers of wood and drawers of water for the slaveocracy; ye who, scarce escaped from the slavery of starvation of British tyrants, vote to perpetuate slavery in the United States and extend it over the continent—rejoice, for your friend whose crumbs ye ate while he had them to bestow—your relative by a common ancestry and national blood—has been hunted down by the tyrants ye willingly serve for the offals they toss you.

You contemptible doughfaces from the North, ashamed to own your birth places, denying your nativity—warts of the chivalric horde—quasi Southrons, having smelt a nigger in some cotton field—ye spewings of the States which nurture freemen—ye white livered, thin-blooded, cringing wretches, who abjure your native land, and claim the glory of having come from the "sunny south"—ye footballs of the negro Democracy, who dare not be known as natives of the North, who bow, and cringe, and kneel to the Juggernaut of niggerdom, happy to be allowed to worship where you are despised, sneaking like whipped hounds into the kennel of your chivalry owners—rejoice, ye cowardly, mean and mangy Yankee curs, for the man who tried to make you freemen is cut down.

Oh, ye are the proper creatures to work and delve, and electioneer and vote for the lazy pack of Southern office holders, who reward you with a smile for denying your birthright. Take the bone they fling you, craven sycophants in the train of power. Bark at your betters, ye whelps from the North, who talk nigger with the niggerless propagandists of slavery. Rejoice, oh ye dean Yankee souls, and mould your hearts of putty into the form your Southern masters command. Oh, ye fellows from the land of the Puritans and the Knickerbockers, from the Green Mountains and the White Hills!—do as heretofore, claim Southern affinities, announce yourselves as "national men," as opposed to sectional parties, and do the most servile labors for ultra Southern pretentions.—Curse everything North of Mason & Dixon's Line, and rejoice that one whose manliness has shamed your coward cheeks has fallen in defence of the principles and people ye have basely repudiated—and vote the regular Democratic ticket.

And Oh, ye chivalry crowd, ye sweet scented Mandingo admirers, first families of Virginia, descendants of the Hugenots, perhaps, and of Pocahontas, whose Bible is a nigger bill of sale, whose New Testament is the slave code; ye who would extend the slave trade not only to Africa but to Bunker's Hill—rejoice, for you have hunted down the first man of the few who never quailed before your threats, nor bowed the pliant knee to your demands. The brave knight has fallen; now play the part of robbers, as ye did that of buccaneers, and strip the body of the dying of its spurs. Quarrel for the office he held, and let the winner go to Washington with the credentials as his successor to the office for which ye have tried to murder him. But let them be signed in blood, for that is the color of your argument.

Sons of Malta.

The local of the New York Tribune gives the following history of this new but now well known order:—

This Order came here from the East. It is said to be coeval with Masonry, and to have had its origin in Egypt, the home of those higher degrees of Masonry only conferred in the workings of the "Rite of Memphis." Indeed, there are not wanting those who assert that the ceremonies of the Sons of Malta are but those sacred mysteries of the Masonic Temple, which it is well known, are mourned as forever lost by the members of that fraternity. The mystic brotherhood of the Sons of Malta has an existence in this city dating back, as an Order, not quite 2 years. Many of its rites have been practiced here, however, ever since the time of Peter Stuyvesant and the other old Dutch Governors. Old Peter himself, it is well known, was legally the G. R. J. A. of the Dutch Colonies in North America for many years, in spite of the loss of his leg, which rendered him to a certain extent incapable of performing the arduous duties pertaining to the office. His misfortune rendering him ineligible, he was not re-elected, a courtesy which would otherwise have been extended to him. He positively refused, however, to give up to his successor the regalia and working tools of the position, to which he had formed a strong attachment. So much respect was shown the sturdy old Dutchman by those high in authority in the Order, that no attempt was made to coerce him in the matter; and history informs us that all the insignia of his office were buried with him. The Eastern magnates of the Fraternity bearing in mind this rebellion of their early representatives in America, have steadily refused to grant working charters to this country till about eight years ago, so that whatever work pertaining to the Order has been done here before that time has been surreptitious, and deserves the reprehension of all the true members of the mystery.—When Capt. James Leonard, in the legitimate performance of his duty as member of the Detective Police, visited the World's Fair, in London, in 1851, he made strenuous efforts to procure a revocation of the prohibition against the restoration of the Order in this country.—He was partially successful, and was appointed G. R. J. A. for the United States of America, with the privilege of re-establishing the Sacred Mysteries here after a lapse of seven years.—He has done so, and in the incredibly short space of les than two years the Order has comprehended more than 80, 000 members. Capt. Leonard's duties have been arduous, but he has been devoted to his work, and as the reward of his persistent exertions he now beholds this multitudinous offspring.

Wherever the Sons of Malta are known they are distinguished for their deeds of charity and love. It is recorded that in all the cities of Europe in plague, pestilence, and famine, they have been ever foremost in the good work of relief. During their short existence in this country they have won a similar reputation for similar philanthropy. All their public parades and processions take place after sunset, and generally at midnight, typical of the quietness of their deeds of charity, which are all performed in strict accordance with the modern injunction that alms must not be done to be seen of men.

☞ The regular telegraph news from Columbus, Ohio, is to the effect that the Republican State ticket is elected by seventeen thousand majority, and the Republicans will have a majority of fifteen in the Senate and twenty-four in the House.

MAMMOTH LOTTERY.—The largest Lottery Scheme ever drawn in the United States will be drawn on Saturday, the 29th of October next. The Capital Prize will be $100,000, the Second Capital $50,000, Third, $20,000, five prizes of $10,000 each; and one million and sixteen thousand seven hundred and eighty-five dollars distributed in prizes varying from $20 up to $5,000. The scheme contains 82,396 prizes and 43,680 blanks, making almost as many prizes as blanks. Price of Tickets, $20 for a Whole; Half, $10; Quarters, $5. Woop Eddy & Co., Wilmington Del., are the Managers, and the proper parties to send orders to.

THE RECEIPTS OF THE STATE FAIR.—The recent State Fair held at Powelton, near Philadelphia, was a decided success, at least so far as its pecuniary receipts are concerned. The State Agricultural Society, thanks to its present able management, is in a most flourishing condition.

The Farmer and Gardener says, the receipts of our State Agricultural Fair were over twenty-three thousand dollars, and speaks of it as a great success. It says the society is well in funds, has the active sympathies of all the agricultural community. The Farmer's High School, toward the permanent establishment of which, the State society contributed so large an amount of substantial aid, is in a most prosperous condition, and, as a climax to all the encouraging results, there is a manifest determination on the part of the farmers throughout the State, to place their profession on higher grounds than it has ever occupied. The society has a large surplus in the treasury, though when the president assumed the office, it was two thousand five hundred dollars in debt.

LOOK OUT FOR YOUR HEAD!

A poet gives the following advice to young men on going to parties:

In going to parties, just mind what you're at;
Beware of your head and take care of your HAT;
Least you find that a favorite son of your mother,
Has an ache in the one and a brick in the other.

Speaking about hats and heads—the subscriber would respectfully announce that he has just returned from the city with a large and well selected stock of Men and Boys'

HATS AND CAPS, OF ALL STYLES,

FOR FALL AND WINTER,

THE NEW FIRE ENGINE.—We learn that the Citizens' Fire Company, of this place, have purchased from the Good Will Fire Company, of Philadelphia, the engine used by that Company, previous to getting their Steam Engine. The Good Will is a first class Engine, and said to be the best and handsomest of the kind in the city. It originally cost the Company $2,500, although, if we are rightly informed, the Citizens' Company get it for $1400. It is expected to arrive on Saturday week, on what train we have not been informed, but presume it will be duly announced. Should the weather be favorable, we presume the Company will exhibit it by a procession through the town. The gentlemen engaged in getting up the company and collecting the funds for the purchase of this much needed and truly useful article, deserve the thanks of the entire community. We shall have more to say about the "mersheen" hereafter.

A MERRY PARTY.—On Saturday evening last, many of our good citizens were slightly taken aback by the appearance of half-a-dozen carriages and wagons, (in one of which was a string band,) all well filled with passengers, driving down Virginia street, and halting at the Logan House. Of course everybody wanted to know what it meant and forthwith repaired to the Logan House, where they found it to be a party of the friends of Col. Hall, who had came over from Hollidaysburg to compliment and congratulate him upon his election to the Senate. Col. H. made his appearance and addressed the audience assembled, in his usual happy manner, thanking his friends for the interest they manifested in his success and the compliment paid him, after which the party again took passage via the plank road for the town "over the hill."

PROTRACTED MEETING.—A Protracted Meeting is now in progress in the Methodist Church in this place, and we hope it will accomplish much good ere it closes. On Sabbath last, Rev. Geo. Guyer, P. E., officiated morning and evening. His theme in the evening was the conversion of the Phillipian Jailor, and his discourse was very entertaining. He was followed by Rev. Creighton in a spirited exhortation. Previous to concluding the services, Rev. Guyer again arose and recited an instance of the power of religion, which came under his own observation, which undoubtedly had a good effect.

☞ The following lines are somewhat old and have travelled a long distance, but they are nevertheless fresh as when first penned. They are not ours, fair reader—no ma'am—they belong to some other "feller," who ought to have his ears pulled; but we can't resist the temptation to copy them. You needn't read them if you are particularly fastidious:—

"When lovely woman veils her bosom
With muslin fashionably thin,
What man with eyes could e'er refuse 'em
Cautiously from peering in?
And when, his ardent gaze returning,
The muslin heaves to deep-drawn sighs
Would not his finger's ends be burning
To press—his lat down over his eyes!"

But the above is not all that is said about your fashions, ladies. Here's another fellow who writes for a popular magazine, who discourses as follows upon the "skeleton" (whatdye-call-em) fashions of the day:

"A woman in this rig hangs in her skirts like a clapper in a bell, and I never meet one without being tempted to take her by the neck and ring her."

Another fellow, speaking of the way women display their arms and shoulders, and conceal their feet, ankles and such, makes the following dangerous revelation:

"Now, a woman has legs as well as arms, and why, if it be the custom, should not one be seen as well as the other?"

A CUP OF WATER.—The following sentiment, which is as "apples of gold set in pictures of silver," is from the tragedy of Ion, written by Thomas Noon Talfourd, an eminent English writer, who died in 1854. Many a sermon—many a volume of sermons—does not contain as much of the milk of human kindness as this brief quotation from a theatrical play:—

"'Tis a little thing
To give a cup of water; yet its draught
Of cool refreshment, drained by fevered lips,
May send a shock of pleasure to the soul
More exquisite than when nectarean juice
Renews the life of joy in happiest hours.
'Tis a little thing to speak some common word
Of comfort, which 'hath almost lost its use,
Yet, upon the ear of him who thought to die
Unmourned, 'twill fall like choicest music."

APOLOGY.—We feel that we owe our readers an apology for want of attention to our last issue and the numerous errors which appeared therein. A heavy press of job work which has kept us busy, night and day, for some time past, is our excuse for want of attention; and the fact that the proof was read at a late hour of the night, when Morpheus almost led us captive at his will, is our excuse for the errors.—Bear with us yet another week, friends, and then we shall be able to do justice to our paper and consequently to you.

BLAIR COUNTY FAIR.—A heavy press of job work prevented our attending the Fair held at Hollidaysburg, for which we feel sorry (not about the job work, but because we didn't get to the Fair,) as we understand it was the best ever held in the county, and we heard it remarked, by persons from abroad, that it surpassed those of surrounding counties. Little Blair is seldom behind in anything she undertakes. When her citizens attempt to get up a Fair they do it; and when they undertake to elect a Senator, they do it.

FAST FREIGHT TRAIN.—On Monday last there was an additional freight train placed upon the Pennsylvania railroad. The train runs in close connection with those on the western roads, and makes a reduction of time of twenty-four hours between Philadelphia and St. Louis. These increasing facilities for transporting goods to the West in so short a time must have the effect to bring to the Pennsylvania company a corresponding increase of business.

THANKS.—The Junior hereby returns thanks to Miss Ella J. Humes for the present of a handsome boquet of fall flowers, hoping that she who thus rejoices the heart of the printer, by culling and arranging sweet boquets for him, may find her pathway strewn with the flowers of prosperity and happiness, and be able to pluck and retain as a companion through life, the handsomest flower of the masculine gender which grows in the world's garden.

☞ Young men wishing to qualify themselves for business should avail themselves of a course of instruction at a commercial college.—We have a couple of scholarships in the Iron City College, Pittsburgh, which is one of the best institutions of the kind in the country, which we will dispose of at terms that will make it an object to secure them.

CHILD SCALDED.—A little daughter of Daniel Null, of this place, between two and three years old, was severely, but not dangerously, scalded about the face, neck, and breast, on Thursday last, by the accidental upsetting of a pot of boiling coffee.—Standard.

POSTMASTER.—Col. Samuel McCamant has been appointed Postmaster at Olivin, this county, vice John Sisler, resigned.

A NICE YOUNG MAN.—A young woman in New York has lately sued a man for breach of promise of marriage, and recovered $900. The principal evidence against the defendant was the fact that he gave the plaintiff his tobacco box, and borrowed a gun of her father, both of which circumstances he thus explained in his testimony:—"I heard her evidence in regard to my attachment for her. When I would pass by her father's house she would come out and ask to ride. I never took her out riding but once or twice in my life; once to Penfield and once to Pittsford—I am not positive which was first. I went to Pittsford with her alone; she went with us to Penfield. I remember leaving my tobacco box with her; I had been to singing school. Nothing was said on the way about affection for her. It was cold, and they asked me to go in and warm myself, which I did. Had got warm and started for the door. Took out my tobacco box and took a chew of tobacco. Mary reached out her hand across the stove for the box. I let her have it. She said when you take this box you have got to take me. I said very well and she has got it yet for all that I know. I had no talk about marrying her then or at any other time. I used to go there occasionally to borrow the old gentleman's gun, and sometimes they hollered at me. I had borrowed his gun from 1855 to April, 1858, at different times, as I wanted to use it."

PLUMBING, GAS FITTING AND GAS FIXTURES.—GEO. A. OGELSBY, Practical Gas Fitter and Plumber, from Philadelphia, has opened a Gas Fitting and Plumbing establishment in Brant's Row three doors below the Post Office.

He will be pleased to attend to all orders in his line with promptness, neatness and durability.

☞ All work warranted.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

DR. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS,

AND

DR. HOOFLAND'S BALSAMIC CORDIAL,

The great standard medicines of the present age, have acquired their great popularity only through years of trial. Unbounded satisfaction is rendered by them in all cases; and the people have pronounced them worthy.

Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia, Jaundice, Debility of the Nervous System, Diseases of the Kidneys, and all diseases arising from a disordered liver or weakness of the stomach and digestive organs, are speedily and permanently cured by the GERMAN BITTERS.

The Balsamic Cordial has acquired a reputation surpassing that of any similar preparation extant. It will cure, WITHOUT FAIL, the most severe and long-standing

Cough, Cold, or Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Influenza, Croup, Pneumonia, Incipient Consumption, and has performed the most astonishing cures ever known of Confirmed Consumption.

A few doses will also at once check and cure the most severe Diarrhœa proceeding from COLD IN THE BOWELS.

These medicines are prepared by Dr. C. M. JACKSON & Co., No. 418 Arch Street, Philadelphia, Pa., and are sold by druggists and dealers in medicines everywhere, at 75 cents per bottle. The signature of C. M. JACKSON will be on the outside wrapper of each bottle.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR

will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Piles, Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect an idote to its apposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR

In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

Nervous Diseases Controlled and Conquered.

Of all the various ills that detract from the enjoyment of human life, most of them may be traced to a disordered condition of the nervous system. The horrors of Epilepsy, or Falling Sickness, arise in most cases from this cause. Our readers may remember, on several occasions before, we have alluded to the wonderful cures, or modifications of Fits, made by the Vegetable Extract Epileptic Pills, invented and prepared by Dr. Seth S. Hance, of 108 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md. We feel fully satisfied that these Pills have cured some of the most stubborn cases of Epilepsy, as well as the milder forms of Fits, such as severe Cramps, Spasms, &c. We now record the fact, that persons will find these Pills equally efficacious in curing every form of nervous debility:—no matter whether manifested in the acute and excruciating form of Neuralgia, Tic-Doloreux, or Nervous Headache, the misery of Dyspepsia or Indigestion, the sufferings of Rheumatism or Gout, the melancholy hallucination of depressed spirits or hysteria, their effects will be equally happy and certain. Persons in the country can write to the inventor, and have the medicine forwarded to them by mail. The prices are, one box, $3; two boxes $5; twelve boxes $24; and sent to any part of the country, free of postage. Direct your communications to SETH S. HANCE, 108 Baltimore Street, Baltimore, Md.

☞ During the summer that has just passed away, thousand of sufferers from dysentery and diarrhœa have been relieved by the use of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS, a medicine which is evidently destined to maintain a permanent place in the public estimation. Bilious diarrhœa is one of those diseases which baffles the skill of the physician. The medicine they administer to act upon the bowels never seems to reach the source of the evil. The difficulty is to get a remedy that will reach all the digestive organs, and give them simultaneously a rush of vigor, to rid themselves of this disease. This problem is solved by the BITTERS, which never fails to conquer the most stubborn cases. It is only fair to say, that during the season just closed, this medicine has achieved more cures than any other ever presented to the public, and during the fall, which that terrible scourge, the fever and ague, is so prevalent, the BITTERS will gain fresh fame.

Sold by druggists and dealers generally, everywhere.

WORMS.

☞ As this is the season of the year when worms are most formidable among children, the proprietors of M'Lane's Vermifuge, Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, beg leave to call the attention of parents to its virtues for the expelling of these annoying, and often fatal enemies of children. It was invented by a physician of great experience in Virginia, who, after having used it for several years in his own practice, and found its success so universal, was induced at last to offer it to the public as a cheap but certain and excellent medicine. It has since become justly popular throughout the United States, as the most efficient Vermifuge ever known, and the demand has been steadily on the increase since its first introduction to the public.

☞ Purchasers will be careful to ask for Dr. M'Lane's Celebrated Vermifuge, manufactured by Fleming Bros. of Pittsburgh, Pa. All other Vermifuges in comparison are worthless. Dr. M'Lane's genuine Vermifuge, also his celebrated Liver Pills, can now be had at all respectable drug stores. None genuine without the signature of

FLEMING BROS.

WHAT IT WOULD TALK TO FEED THE SUN.—A philosopher has calculated that the amount of light which flows from the solar orb could be scarcely produced by the daily combustion of two hundred globes of tallow, each equal to the earth in magnitude. A sphere of combustible matter, much larger than the sun itself, would be consumed every ten years in maintaining its wonderful brilliancy. It would be a splendid sight to see an immense transparency illuminated by means of one of these tallow globes, and having written upon it, "Buy all your garments at the Brown Stone Clothing Hall of Rockhill & Wilson, Nos. 603 and 605 Chesnut Street, above Sixth, Philadelphia."

JUST OPENED

A STOCK OF

Entirely New Goods.

R. A. O. KERR

WOULD INFORM THE GOOD people of Altoona, the surrounding country, and the "rest of mankind," that he has just returned from the city with a large stock of NEW GOODS, which he offers at reasonable prices, at the stand formerly occupied by E. Kerr, and recently by W. O'Neeil, on Main street. His stock is the only one in town which is

ENTIRELY NEW,

and he flatters himself that he has something to please the eye of every lady, and suit the wants of every gentleman. He deems it unnecessary to enumerate all the articles on the shelves, (as to do so would require a whole newspaper,) but would say that he has everything in the line of which this meridian calls for, and all just suited to the season, together with a well-selected assortment of House Furnishing Goods, such as Carpets, Window Blinds, Shades, &c., which will commend themselves.

LADIES' DRESS GOODS

FOR GENTLEMEN,

he has a great variety—from which they can not fail to make a satisfactory selection. He has also a tip-top assortment of GROCERIES as good, fresh and cheap as can be had this side of the place of growing or manufacture. Also, HARDWARE, QUEENSWARE, and everything necessary to complete a store in a thriving town like Altoona.

All he asks is that the people call and examine his stock, which he will at all times take pleasure in showing, and he feels confident that he can send them away rejoicing, if not in the purchase of just such an article as they wanted, at the remembrance of having looked upon the handsomest stock of Goods ever exhibited in the town.

Altoona, Oct. 20, 1859.

GRAND DISPLAY

Bought at Auction, and which we can offer at prices that will defy competition.

GROCERIES for sale by Wholesale at City prices with Freight only added.

All kinds of Country Produce taken at the highest market price. We respectfully invite all persons in want of cheap and good GOODS, to call and be convinced that we have a Model Stock at Model Prices.

Altoona, Oct. 13, '59. J. & J. LOWTHER.

HOUSE AND LOT FOR SALE.—The subscriber offers at private sale the house and lot now occupied by him on Chestnut St., North Ward Altoona. The House is a good two Story Plank Building, weatherboarded, containing a Hall, Parlor, Dining-Room and Kitchen on the first floor, four good size sleeping rooms on the second floor, and a good Attic. Also a good Porch and Balcony to the back part of the House. A good cellar, and excellent water at the door. The lot is in good order, with a number of fruit trees, stable, &c, on it. For further information, call on the subscriber, residing thereon.

There is a small frame dwelling House on the same lot. The terms of sale will be made easy.

PROSPECTUS OF A NEW WORK BY EMERSON BENNETT,

Author of "Clara Moreland," "Prairie Flower," "The Refugees," "Blanche Bertraud," "The Artist's Bride," &c., &c., entitled

WILD SCENES ON THE FRONTIERS;

OR

HEROES OF THE WEST.

"Westward, the course of Empire takes its way."

This Work, is the only one in Book form, which for several years has emanated from the pen of the gifted author, who treads now alone the path once trodden by our own Cooper. It will contain graphic pictures of the conflicts of the hardy Pioneer, whose strifes and struggles with his Indian foe, rival the tales of fiction and the tragic counterfeits of the mimic stage. Also thrilling narratives of the daring deeds, the heart-trials, the heroic devotion and self-denial of noble women, the mothers of the West! Beneath the over-arching forests, hand to hand, and foot to foot, the intrepid adventurer has encountered in deadly combat the ruffian desperadoes who made their haunts in the backwoods, and his gallant achievements have thrown a halo of romance over the waving prairies, the grand old mountains, and the majestic rivers of the land of the setting sun!

Not are these pages wanting in those gentler scenes which make up home-life, and which are pictured with all the skill and fidelity for which the author is pre-eminently distinguished. His delineation of Frontier character, and of the scenery of the Borders, has always the advantage of an accuracy which is the result of an intimate, personal acquaintance.

The Work will be printed on fine white paper, in clear, open type, and appropriately and beautifully illustrated by the most skillful artists. 12mo. Cloth. Price, 1.25.

JACOB SNYDER, TAILOR,

The Hero of One Hundred Fits per Month!

I would respectfully set forth my claim to public attention, as a Fashionable Tailor, as follows:

Because I keep an excellent assortment of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings and Trimmings, which, when examined, always please.

Because my work is made up in a manner that takes down the country and gives all my customers a city appearance.

Because I am not inferior as a Cutter to the best to be found anywhere.

Because long experience in my business gives me entire control over it, and I am not dependant upon any one to lift me out of the suds.

Because I am still on the sunny side of forty, and therefore my taste as a Cutter and workman unimpaired.

Call on me, in the corner room of the "Brant House." Give me a trial and you will go away pleased.

HOERHAVE'S

HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR

DYSPEPSIA,

DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,

LIVER COMPLAINT,

WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND

FEVER AND AGUE,

And the various affections consequent upon a disorder

STOMACH OR LIVER.

Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.

This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.

It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.

CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful remedy has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

IRON FINGER NAILS FOR HUSKING CORN—Gould's Patent Husking Thimble is the only implement known that will entirely protect the fingers from the evils of excoriation, &c., common to husking corn by hand.

We are now in possession of over 200,000 letters of approval, over the signatures of reliable farmers and planters in different localities in the U. S., equally as flattering as the following.

READ! READ! READ!

THE HUSKING THIMBLE CAN'T be BEAT.

MESSRS GOULD & Co.—Sirs,—I send enclosed $1 for six pairs of your celebrated Husking Thimbles. I bought a pair of you last fall and I have used them for husking ever since. If there are any who don't think worth while to buy a pair, let them tear their finger nails off; for one, I won't. They will outwear anything of the kind I ever saw, and for husking they can't be beat.

Yours truly, WM. MORROW.

Tiro, Crawford Co., O., Nov. 8th, 1858.

BETTER THAN ANY MACHINE.

MESSRS. J. H. GOULD & Co.—Gents; Find enclosed $1.00 for six pairs of your patent Husking Thimbles of the size represented by the measures enclosed. I used a pair last year and I prefer them to all the great, small, and little giant Corn Huskers. Yours Respectfully, A. H. BELL.

Hillsboro Montgomery Co., Ill. Nov. 27th, 1858.

THE HUSKING THIMBLES ARE ALL WE REPRESENT THEM TO BE.

J. H. GOULD & Co.—Alliance Ohio—Gentlemen; I received in good order the six pairs of Husking Thimbles and can say that they are all that is represented of them. I have distributed them among my neighbors, and could have sold a great many if I had had them in season. I will myself, or get some one to do so, apply for an agency

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS.

It is a fact that, at some period, every member of the human family is subject to disease or disturbance of the bodily functions; but, with the aid of a good tonic and the exercise of plain common sense, they may be able so to regulate the system as to secure permanent health. In order to accomplish this desired object, the true course to pursue is certainly that which will produce a natural state of things at the least hazard of vital strength and life. For this purpose, Dr. Hostetter has introduced to this country a preparation bearing his name, which is not a new medicine, but one that has been tried for years, giving satisfaction to all who have used it. The Bitters operate powerfully upon the stomach, bowels, and liver, restoring them to a healthy and vigorous action, and thus, by the simple process of strengthening nature, enable the system to triumph over disease.

For the cure of Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Nausea, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, or any Bilious Complaints, arising from a morbid inaction of the Stomach or Bowels, producing Cramps, Dysentery, Colic, Cholera Morbus, &c., these Bitters have no equal.

Diarrhœa, dysentery or flux, so generally contracted by new settlers, and caused principally by the change of water and diet, will be speedily regulated by a brief use of this preparation. Dyspepsia, a disease which is probably more prevalent, in all its various forms, than any other, and the cause of which may always be attributed to derangements of the digestive organs, can be cured without fail by using HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, as per directions on the bottle. For this disease every physician will recommend Bitters of some kind; then why not use an article known to be infallible? All nations have their Bitters, as a preventive of disease and strengthener of the system in general; and among them all there is not to be found a more healthy people than the Germans, from whom this preparation emanated, based upon scientific experiments which have tended to prove the value of this great preparation in the scale of medical science.

Fever and Ague.—This trying and provoking disease, which fixes its relentless grasp on the body of man, reducing him to a mere shadow in a short time, and rendering him physically and mentally useless, can be driven from the body by the use of HOSTETTER'S RENOWNED BITTERS. Further, none of the above-stated diseases can be contracted, even in exposed situations, if the Bitters are used as per directions. And as they neither create nausea nor offend the palate, and render unnecessary any change of diet or interruption of ordinary pursuits, but promote sound sleep and healthy digestion, the complaint is removed as speedily as is consistent with the production of a thorough and permanent cure.

For Persons in Advanced Years, who are suffering from an enfeebled constitution and infirm body, these Bitters are invaluable as a restorative of strength and vigor, and need only be tried to be appreciated. And to a mother while nursing these Bitters are indispensable, especially where the mother's nourishment is inadequate to the demands of the child, consequently her strength must yield, and here it is where a good tonic, such as Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is needed to impart temporary strength and vigor to the system. Ladies should by all means try this remedy for all cases of debility, and, before so doing, should ask their physician, who, if he is acquainted with the virtue of the Bitters, will recommend their use in all cases of weakness.

CAUTION.—We caution the public against using any of the many imitations or counterfeits, but ask for Hostetter's Celebrated Stomach Bitters, and see that each bottle has the words "Dr. J. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters" blown on the side of the bottle, and stamped on the metallic cap covering the cork, and observe that our autograph signature is on the label.

☞ Prepared and sold by HOSTETTER & SMITH, Pittsburgh, Pa., and sold by all druggists, grocers, and dealers generally throughout the United States, Canada, South America, and Germany.

☞ Sold by G W Kessler and A Roush, Altoona; G A Jacobs, J K Patten and W G Murray, Hollidaysburg; and S Berlin, Tyrone. [Aug. 25, 1859–1y

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT!

Read the following Certificates to the Knowing of this Medicine in Inflammatory Diseases:

"For the last twelve years I have been more or less troubled with Inflammatory Rheumatism, commencing early in the Spring, and lasting until cold weather set in, when I would be relieved for a while, only to be attacked again in the Spring. All my joints would swell and be very sore, attended with the most acute pain. My feet, shoulders, arms, and hands trembled me most, so much so that I could scarcely walk, and almost always required assistance in dressing. During this time I would try everything I could hear of, in the hope of finding a cure. I also tried several physicians, but nothing seemed to help me the least in the world. About two and a half years ago I was attacked as usual, and as usual tried everything to get rid of it, but to no purpose. I kept growing worse, and finally had to give up and stay in the house, where I was confined about four weeks. This time my feet swelled, and were so sore that I could not stand on them or get on my boots, and my hands swelled to twice their usual size. In fact, I was to all appearances and belief, totally used up. About this time my parents, who reside in Maine, sent for me to come home. I went and after my arrival I commenced trying another remedy, hoping to be cured, but resulting the same as all others. For weeks I had not been able to dress myself or to raise my hand to my head, and suffering the most excruciating pain all the time.—One day my father came in with a paper in which was advertised Dr. Coggswell's MEDICAL SALT, for Inflammatory Diseases only, and wanted me to read and see what I thought of it. I read and laughed at its pronounced it a humbug, and told him that I had been humbugged enough. He kept urging me, and at last said I could but try it, and if I would write to Dr. C., giving him a description of my disease, he would pay the expense. Of course I could not refuse such an offer and sent for one box. It came in due season, but my faith was not increased, and I laughed at the idea of so small a dose doing me any good, and told my wife that I believed Dr. C. and his Salt both humbugs. However, I commenced using it and the result was per fectly astonishing. I could hardly realize it myself. I slept soundly all night, which I had not done for a long time, and when I awoke in the morning, strange as it may seem, I was entirely free from pain. I had then taken but one dose, and bathed freely before going to bed. That morning I felt so well that I hardly knew how to contain myself, and went down stairs and told the folks how well I felt, and from that day to this I have not suffered one moment's pain or had an attack of my once dreaded enemy, Rheumatism. I am perfectly well and hearty, and wherever I have a chance I recommend it. A friend of mine, residing in Brooklyn, is now trying it for a bad case of neuralgic rheumatism, and so far it is working admirably.—This is a long story, but I have told all the facts, which I can bring witnesses to substantiate if necessary; and will again say that in the MEDICAL SALT, a sure cure may be found for all inflammatory diseases, and would urge all who are afflicted to give it a trial. GEO. H. DUNCAN.

7-tf.] H. FETTINGER.

When it is remembered that the MEDICAL SALT is as efficacious in all other Inflammatory diseases as in Rheumatism, (see descriptive circulars) it will at once be seen that it is a most valuable remedy. Surely those thus afflicted will find in their own condition and in the above statements, enough to induce them to give the MEDICAL SALT a trial.

This old established and popular HOTEL, located nearly opposite the place of stopping the passenger cars in Altoona, has passed into the hands of the present proprietor.—Long experience in the business warrants me in assuring the travelling public that no pains will be spared to render guests as comfortable as possible while sojourning under my roof.

The TABLE will constantly be supplied with the very best the market affords.

The BAR will be found to contain an excellent assortment of LIQUORS of all kinds, including that choice beverage LAGER BEER.

The STABLE is in charge of an excellent and experienced Ostler.

The proprietor hopes, by his long experience in the busines and the facilities at his command, to make the Red Lion, in all respects, a first class Hotel. The business of the Hotel will be under my own personal supervision. A liberal share of public patronage is kindly solicited.

EXCHANGE HOTEL.—THE SUBSCRIBER would respectfully inform the public that he has recently refitted the above Hotel, and is now prepared to accommodate his friends and patrons in a comfortable manner, and he will spare no pains in making it an agreeable home for all sojourners. His Table will always be luxuriously supplied from the markets of the country and cities, and his Bar filled with liquors of choice brands. His charges are as reasonable as those of any other Hotel in the place, and he feels satisfied they can not be complained of by those who favor him with their custom. Expecting to receive a share of public patronage, and fully intending to deserve it, he throws open his house to the public and invites a trial.

I have just received a stock of No. 1 French Brandy, for medicinal purposes.

TO all wanting Farms. See advertisement of Hammonton Lands.

NEW AGRICULTURAL SETTLEMENT.—To all wanting Farms, a rare opportunity to a delightful and healthy climate 25 miles Southeast of Philadelphia, on the Camden and Atlantic Railroad New Jersey.

An old estate consisting of several thousands of acres of productive soil has been divided into Farms of various sizes to suit the purchaser. A population of some Fifteen Hundred, from various parts of the Middle States and New England have settled there the past year, improved their places, and raised excellent crops. The prices of the land is at the low sum of from $15 to $20 per acre, the soil is of the best quality for the production of Wheat, Clover, Corn, Peaches, Grapes and Vegetables. IT IS CONSIDERED THE BEST FRUIT SOIL IN THE UNION. The place is perfectly secure from frosts—the destructive enemy of the farmer. Crops of grain, grass and fruit are now growing and can be seen. By examining the place itself, a correct judgment can be formed of the productiveness of the land. The terms are made easy to secure the rapid improvement of the land, which is only sold for actual improvement. The result has been, that within the past year, some three hundred houses have been erected, two mills, one steam, four stores, some forty vinyards and Peach orchards, planted, and a large number of other improvements, making it a desirable and active place of business.

THE MARKET.

as the reader may perceive from its location, is the BEST IN THE UNION.

Produce bringing double the price than in locations away from the city, and more than double the price than the West. It is known that the earliest and best fruits and vegetables in this latitude come from New Jersey, and are annually exported to the extent of millions.

In locating here, the settler has many advantages. He is within a few hours ride of the great cities of New England and Middle States, he is near his old friends and associations, he is in a settled country where every improvement of comfort and civilization is at hand. He can buy every article he wants at the cheapest price, and sell his produce for the highest, (in the West this is reversed,) he has schools for his children, divine service, and will enjoy an open winter, and delightful climate, where fevers are utterly unknown. The result of the change upon those from the north, has generally been to restore them to an excellent state of health.

In the way of building and improving, lumber can be obtained at the mills at the rate of $10 to $15 per thousand. Bricks from the brick yard opened in the place, every article can be procured in the place, good carpenters are at hand, and there is no place in the Union where buildings and improvements can be made cheaper.

The reader will at once be struck with the advantages there presented, and ask himself why the property has not been taken up before. The reason is, it was never thrown in the market; and unless these statements were correct, no one would be invited to examine the land before purchasing. This all are expected to do. They will see land under cultivation, such is the extent of the settlement that they will no doubt, meet persons, from their own neighborhood; they will witness the improvements and can judge the character of the population. If they come with a view to settle, they should come prepared to stay a day or two and be ready to purchase, as locations cannot be held on refusal.

There are two daily trains to Philadelphia, and to all settlers who improve, the Railroad Company gives a Free Ticket for six months, and a half-price Ticket for three years.

THE TOWN OF HAMMONTON.

In connection with the agricultural settlement, a new and thriving town has naturally arisen, which presents inducements for any kind of business, particularly stores and manufactories. The Shoe business could be carried on in this place and market to good advantage, also cotton business, and manufactories of agricultural implements or founderies for casting small articles. The improvement has been so rapid as to insure a constant and permanent increase of business. Town lots of a good size, we do not sell small ones, as it would effect the improvement of the place, can be had at from $100 and upwards.

The Hammonton Farmer, a monthly literary and agricultural sheet, containing full information of Hammonton, can be obtained at 25 cents per annum.

Title indisputable—warrantee deeds given, clear of all incumbrance when money is paid. Route to the land, leave Vine street wharf, Philadelphia for Hammonton, by Railroad, at 7½ A. M., or 4½ P. M. Fare 90 cents. When there inquire for Mr. Byrnes, regarding conveniences on hand. Parties had better stop with Mr. Byrnes, a principal, until they have decided as to purchasing, as he will show them over the land in his carriage, free of expense. Letters and applications can be addressed to Landis & Byrnes, Hammonton P. O., Atlantic Co., New Jersey, or S. R. Coughlin, 202 South Fifth Street, Philadelphia.—Maps and information cheerfully furnished.
